Westerly, Another Wood Alcohol Death

Friend who Treated Michael Riley Whetted His Thirst at Funeral of Michael Sweeney.

Many friends including a large delegation representing Narragansett Council, Knights of Columbus, of which deceased was a charter member, attended the funeral of Martin Sweeney, a solemn high mass of requiem being celebrated in the Church of the Impaculate Conception, Monday by Rev. Peter McOscar, Rev. F. L. Fitzpatrick was deacon, Rev. John Dunn subdeacon and Rev. Frank Bruno master of ceremonies.

deacon and Rev. Frank Bruno master of ceremonies.

At the offertory, Jordan's Pie Jesus, tenor solo was sung by Martin H. Spellman. A quartette composed of Miss Rose Carney soprano, Miss Rose Bannon alto, Martin H. Spellman tenor and Thomas V. Claney bass, rendered Rossin's Quardo Corpus.

Burial was in St. Michaels' cemetery, Rev. Peter-McOscar conducting the committal service consisted by Rev. William Krause of St. Michael's church. The bearers were Michael Flynn, Cornelius J. Murphy, John Carney, Morris Bransfield, Eugene O'Neil and John Dunn, Sr. There were beautiful floral tributes.

There is considerable interest in the Westerly fire district special meeting, which is to decide whether the fire alarm system is to be extended to the newly annexed section, and fire protection equal to that in the old district supplied. At the annual meeting there was misunderstanding as to the rights of taxpayers in the annexed district and in consequence only one the rights of taxpayers in the annexed district and in consequence only one resident attended the meeting. Although the annexation increased the revenue sufficient to permit of a reduction from twenty cents on each $100 of taxble property to fifteen cents, the meeting voted against the extension of the fire alarm system. The board of water commissioners caused hydrants to be placed in its added section of the fire district, but it is urged that they are of little use as there is no fire alarm system to summon the firemen and apparatus in the event of fire, without dangerous delay.

suence of a call for the meeting is numerously signed and included the representatives of the New England and Smith Granite works, whose prop-erties were partially destroyed by fire in the past two years.

There will be a mass meeting in the interests of the Laymen's Missionary Movement in Rhode Island at Providence this (Tuesday) evening at which Westerly will be represented. At the convention held last November an executive committee was appointed to take charge of the work in the state. This committee will make recommendations as to the best methods to be adopted in the raising of funds for the movement. The principal speakers will be N. S. Hopkins, a medical missionary in northern China and Rev. Buel O. Campbell of South Africa.

There will be something doing in trolley line work in Westerly at an early date which will probably include the rebuilding of the Pawcatuck Valley road to Watch Hill and the connecting of the rails of the latter with the rails of the Groton and Stonington road at the state line in the Broad street bridge.

The Swine or the Flower?

Ah me! I saw a huge and loathsome sty,

Wherein a drove of wallowing swine

With dewy buds 'mid dark green foliage nursed;
And, as I lingered o'er the lovely sight,
The summer breeze, that cooled that Southern scene, Whispered, "Behold the source of

indicating that work is soon to be com-menced

With all preliminary work complet-ed, it is believed that the work can be carried to completion before the sum-mer season traffic is at its height.

When the road is rebuilt the big cars of the Norwich line can run direct from the Rose of New England to Watch Hill and also to Pleasant View.

Michael Riley employed in the Klondike quarry, and who lived just over the Westerly line in the town of Charlestown, is dead from the effects of drinking whiskey Sunday afternoon, alleged to have been made largely of wood alcohol He died in agony at 10 o'clock Monday morning. He vomited a greenish liquid and became blind. Dr. A. B. Briggs of Ashaway, who was called and who arrived lifteen minutes before the man died, believes it to be a sure case of wood alcohol poisoning. Dr. E. H. Rouse, medical examiner will hold a post-mortem examination, and have the liquor that remained in the bottle from which Riley drank analyzed. Mrs. Riley positively asserts that the poisonous stuff was bought from John Di Fonti, who resides in the town of Charlestown, just beyond the boundary line between Westerly and Charlestown.

Riley was at work in his garden Sunday morning when a friend came along with a bottle of whiskey. Both men drank freely and Riley became intoxicated and went to sleep under a men drank freely and Riley became in-toxicated and went to sleep under a tree. He awoke in the early afternoon, Mrs. Riley says, and sent his son, Timothy, age 13, and Edward Hoyt, age 11, of Westerly, to John Di Fontl's place and purchased the fatal whiskey. It is not believed that that first bottle from which he drank, had wood alcohol, as his companion felt no ill effects and did not drink from the second bottle.

Mr. Riley ate no supper Sunday evening and complained of nausea when accidentally knocked down the after he was taken violently ill, and vomited a green liquid. Towards morning he seemed to grow worse and told his wife he could hear but could not see. Soon after he became unconscious and Dr. Briggs was summoned. Dr. Briggs was given possession of

Dr. Briggs was given possession of the bottle that contained the alleged poisonous whiskey, but only a small quantity of the liquor remained. He declined to sign the death certificate, being practically sure that it is a case of wood alcohol poisoning.

Mr. Riley, although a moderate drinker, did not permit the habit to interfere with his work and was classed as a hard-working, industrious man. interfere with his work and was classed as a hard-working, industrious man. He leaves his wife and ten children in almost destitute condition. The children are John, age 19; Cornelius 17; Annie 16; Timothy 13; Michael 12; David 9; Catherine 8; Francis Joseph 5; William 4; Elizabeth Mary, 21-2. He also leaves two brothers, Cornelius of Westerly and John of Gardner, Mass., also a sister, Mrs. Thomas Howard of Westerly.

bottle. As soon as her husband drank of it he said it was of very poor quality. The bottle was more than half full when Mrs. Riley placed it in the cupboard, but it was uncorked and when accidently knocked down the contents ran out, except the small quantity now in the possession of Dr. Rouse.

The house where Mr. Riley died is near the Klondike quarry, which is owned and operated by the James Gourlay estate, of Westerly and managed by a son of the late James Gourlay. The quarry is partially in Niantic, town of Westerly. Di Fonti's place, where Mrs. Riley says the whiskey drank by her imsband was purchased is very near the town boundary line, within a few hundred feet of the town of Westerly. reported that this, and other whiskey which probably contained wood alcohol, came from a wholesale liquor house in Providence. If this proves true, it will substantiate the claim of the pure food and drug commission, that liquor in the manufacture of which refined wood alcohol is used, is being sold throughout the state of Rhode Island, and not confined to Westerly. Over a week ago, Secretary Groff of the commission, collected several samples of whiskey furnished by Chief Bransfield and Town Solicitor Agard for analytical purposes. No report on these squors have been received in Westerly, so far as the public knows, but there is report current that whiskey bought by a Mrs. Harrington for a sick member of her family and which was not used revealed the presence of wood alcohol.

Attorney General Greenough stated Monday that he had not yet received the report of Coroner Everett E. Kingsley of Westerly of the inquest into the death of Daniel Sulivan, foilowing which Patrick Brady was detained as a witness before the grand jury in the case of an arrest being made in connection with that case.

The attorney general referring to the alleged poisoned whiskey cases in Pawcatuck said: "It seems to me that the Connecticut authorities should do something. I have not as yet heard of their asking for extradition, although it would be my duty to pass upon such papers."
